Join Christopher Snider, CEPA®, CEO of the Exit Planning Institute® (EPI), and award-winning author of Walking to Destiny: 11 Actions an Owner Must Take to Rapidly Grow Value & Unlock Wealth, on November 5, 2025, as he explains why exit planning isn't just a plan but a good business strategy.

Exit planning is often misunderstood as something that happens only at the end of a business owner's journey. In reality, exit planning is simply good business strategy. It is designed to grow value, align goals, and create freedom for owners long before a transition ever takes place.

In this session, Christopher will reframe the way you think about exit planning. He will demonstrate how integrating exit planning into everyday decision making and aligning the three legs of the stool, business, personal, and financial, drives stronger companies, better financial outcomes, and more intentional personal lives.

Whether you work directly with business owners or lead your own company, you will leave with a clear understanding of how exit planning can be applied as a powerful framework for growth and a roadmap to creating a more valuable, resilient, and transferable business.
