

Julie Stout: Professional BIO

Julie Stout is the owner of a creative marketing agency, advancreative. Her agency is her test lab not only for innovative marketing but also for building a creative culture in an organization. Julie's passion project is to start a Creative Revolution to offset the impact of AI. Her goal is to inspire and unleash creativity in everyone. Her vision is to make this a better world by teaching creative problem-solving and spending more time in the flow. She will be launching her podcast and leadership training courses August, 2023.