

Stephen McHale: Professional BIO

For Over 30 years, Stephen McHale has successfully built data, analytics and technology companies across healthcare, mainstream media, and more. Now he is dedicating his experience as founder and CEO to his latest venture, UnifyWork, a workforce intelligence platform powering equitable local talent networks. Before UnifyWork, Stephen co-founded Explorys in 2009, amassing the world's most extensive clinical database, which IBM later acquired in 2015. Stephen is committed to giving back to the Cleveland Community, serving on several boards and serves as a leader and advisor in the entrepreneurial community.